LetMe launches its new Spring catalog, packed with superb outdoor themed gifts

(Atlanta, GA) – January 15, 2005 – LetMe, the new name in luxury gifts, today announced a huge expansion of its product range. The new Spring catalog showcases unique products such as English Wicker picnic basket sets, rugged Australian leather wine carriers and handmade English silver wine goblets.

In response to demand, LetMe has gift ideas for those wishing to dine al-fresco, enjoy an outdoor sporting event or simply experience being outside again after the winter months.

A relative newcomer to the American Market, LetMe launched in Europe two years ago. The quickly expanding company does things differently – it does not offer the low price, low quality formula typically found in American stores. “LetMe goes to great lengths to meet each and every supplier, we travel to every Country and witness first hand the passion that our suppliers have in the products they make.” said Nigel Arbery, Vice President of Marketing at LetMe. “We will continue to search the globe for innovative and unique gift ideas...value goes beyond just the price”
